Bayberry Pond Restoration

By: Lesley Hunt -WCOSF Bayberry Project Leader

In the August Woodlands newsletter, Bob Simmons announced the Walnut Creek Open Space Foundation's project to restore Bayberry Pond. The project was financed by a City Civic Pride grant and the Foundation's own funds. The Foundation is providing all of the volunteer labor.

As you may remember, Bayberry Pond is located in the fenced area near the Bayberry Drive entrance to the Lime Ridge Open Space. A slide from Ygnacio Valley Road had silted it in and reduced its value for wildlife.

After some delay we got a Fish & Game permit to deepen the pond at Thanksgiving. Meanwhile we inventoried the plants and animals present on the site and researched what new animals we could attract by enriching the habitat. We were especially looking for Species of Concern that we could help. We then worked with Open Space staff to create a planting plan and began removing weeds.

Since the winter rains began, we have been planting acorns, buckeyes, native grasses, wildflowers, toyon, and other native plants of importance to wildlife.

Many of you have asked us what we were doing and we appreciate your interest. After all, this project is almost in your backyard. We hope you will adopt it and participate with us in transforming the area into a wonderful seasonal wetland again.

For a schedule of activities, photos of the project so far, and more info, please visit our website at www.wcosf.org. If you would like to be notified of future volunteer activities, send us an email through the website.

And when you visit – we've marked out a path with orange flags to get you safely through the areas we've planted. We hope you'll come often and watch things as they develop.

Lice Infestation (Continuing Education)

Due to our continuing battle with head lice, it is important to remain diligent (and educated) so we can hopefully declare "victory" over this school enemy.

More tidbits to share from our parents (and LoveBugs)!

When checking for nits (new or old) and/or lice, the best way is to use a very narrow-tooth steel nit comb. The best found is at Lovebugs for $25. The other steel combs don't seem to come close to the efficiency of the Lovebugs combs.

Classification of colored "things" in/coming out of your children's head/hair:

White: old, already hatched nit/egg shell. This means you had at least one live lice egg which hatched at least 100 lice onto your child's head.

Brown: new, not yet hatched nit/egg. If this/these are not picked out, they each will hatch at least 100 lice w/ in 3-7 days.

Clear: killed nit/egg. (Usually after a treatment.) Good news!

Bug: a live louse, which can lay egg/nits to start this lovely cycle again...and again.

From the "rumor mill," it seems that many of the non Lovebugs-treated families are unaware of the need to look for the brown nits daily.

With every finding of a white nit and/or louse,

- Hot water laundering must occur for: Sheets, blankets, pillow cases, comforters/bedspreads, mattress pads, towels, clothes, jackets, backpacks, stuffed animals, non-plastic hair accessories, etc.
- Boiling for: Combs, brushes, plastic hair accessories, etc.
- 20 minutes minimum on high in dryer for: All non-washables, such as couch pillows, etc.
- Vacuum all: Furniture, carpet, rugs, mattresses, etc.
- Wipe down w/ an ammonia and alcohol solution: All seats in all cars, etc.

(Remember to boil all nit combs each time you use them so you don't reinfect your child).

Find Something?

- With every finding of brown nit/egg, each must be removed, placed in a ziplock bag and thrown away.
- With every finding of a clear nit/egg, try to remove. If you cannot, it's OK: They cannot hatch.
- Each time a lice/louse is found, the entire house must be retreated (see laundering info stated above). And each family member (even if they've not had lice before) must be checked for nits, eggs, and/or lice. If another family member does have nits/eggs and/or lice, they need to be treated and all their belongings treated as stated above.

If your child has been treated, it's best to:

- A. Check their head daily w/ the recommended steel nit comb and,
- B. Wash/dry for at least 20 minutes on high all bedding, towels and house pillows they may have used and,
- C. Boil all combs, brushes, hair accessories, etc. and,
- D. Keep their dirty/soiled laundry in an enclosed hamper.

All the above should be done daily until no brown nits/eggs has been found for a consecutive 14 days.

Lastly: For those children with long hair, it is a good idea to keep the hair back and controlled so that it isn't "free flowing."

Spring Fling Coordinator Needed

Everyone-- We are in need of someone to head up our Spring Fling effort this year. While the event doesn't take place until April, it is important to get going on it now. There is binder with the complete info needed to get things started. It is not an overwhelming job (especially if there are two or more people willing to work together to head it up), but we need to set things in motion by February.

Is there anyone in our Valle Verde community willing to work on this fundraiser. If so, please contact Rebecca Wagner at twomastiff@astound.net

School Meals--Help for Parents

Each of us has been affected by the current economic crisis personally, or through someone we know. If your income has been reduced or eliminated, your children may be eligible to receive free or reduced price meals at school.

The application process is confidential and your child will continue to use their student ID number to receive meals. Applications can be sent in any time during the school year and can be found at your child's school, by going online at <http://www.mdusd.k12.ca.us/foodservices/application.html>, or by calling Food and Nutrition Services (682-8000 x 4124).
